FOREIGN TO ALL

01 / Rough concept sketch • From being lost to being understood

An intentionally loose, hand-drawn-style draft. The route is real; the emotional arc is a design hypothesis.

Berlin first.
Other 7 cities: any order.
No need to clear every activity.

CURIOUS > UNCERTAIN > UNDERSTANDING > CONFIDENT > BELONGING

FOREIGN TO ALL

02 / Player journey map

Current beta • 03 October 2026 • Player goal: understand people, form connections, and earn a name.

	01 MAKE IT YOURS Ownership	02 FIRST CONTACT Orientation	03 FIND MEANING Discovery	04 BECOME FAMILIAR Connection	05 WIDEN THE WORLD Independence	06 RETURN & CHOOSE Reflection	07 BE NAMED Belonging
PLAYER DOES	Choose New Journey. Customize the alien. Enter the opening scene.	Arrive in Berlin. Meet Lukas at the stall. Notice objects and local speech.	Listen and observe. Point, try a reply, or ask. Connect a word to its context.	Return to the local friend. Follow personal discoveries. Join their celebration.	Choose another core city. Fly, land at its airport. Take the included city transfer.	After all 8 celebrations, return to Berlin's pod. Choose who will name you.	Hear your chosen friend's name and its meaning. Continue exploring or finish.
PLAYER THINKS	"Who am I going to be?"	"What can I do here?"	"Oh, that is what it means."	"They remember me."	"I can find my own way."	"Whose memory stays with me?"	"I am known here."
INTENDED FEELING	Curious, invested	Uncertain, intrigued	Relief, discovery	Confidence, connection	Agency, fresh curiosity	Reflection, anticipation	Belonging, closure
TOUCHPOINTS	Title screen Alien creator Opening cutscene	Berlin street Interaction prompts Current intention	Staged conversations Visible target words Notebook + playback	City chapters Explorable places Optional word-use encounter	Scene-backed map Airport + flight sequence Local 24-hour clock	Journey memories Landing field + pod Friend selection	Staged naming scene Credits + local feedback Continue exploring
DESIGN WATCHPOINT	Risk: too much setup. Keep choices readable and the customized alien consistent.	Risk: feeling lost. Give one clear next intention; make objects recognizable.	Risk: a guessing test. Let context teach; wrong readings lead to gentle repair.	Risk: checklist fatigue. Vary the city rhythm; keep extra activities and work optional.	Risk: travel friction. Clear arrival guidance, essential-fare support, skippable film.	Risk: an arbitrary finale. Ground the choice in shared memories; allow Not yet.	Risk: abrupt closure. Keep exploration available; the pod can replay the moment.

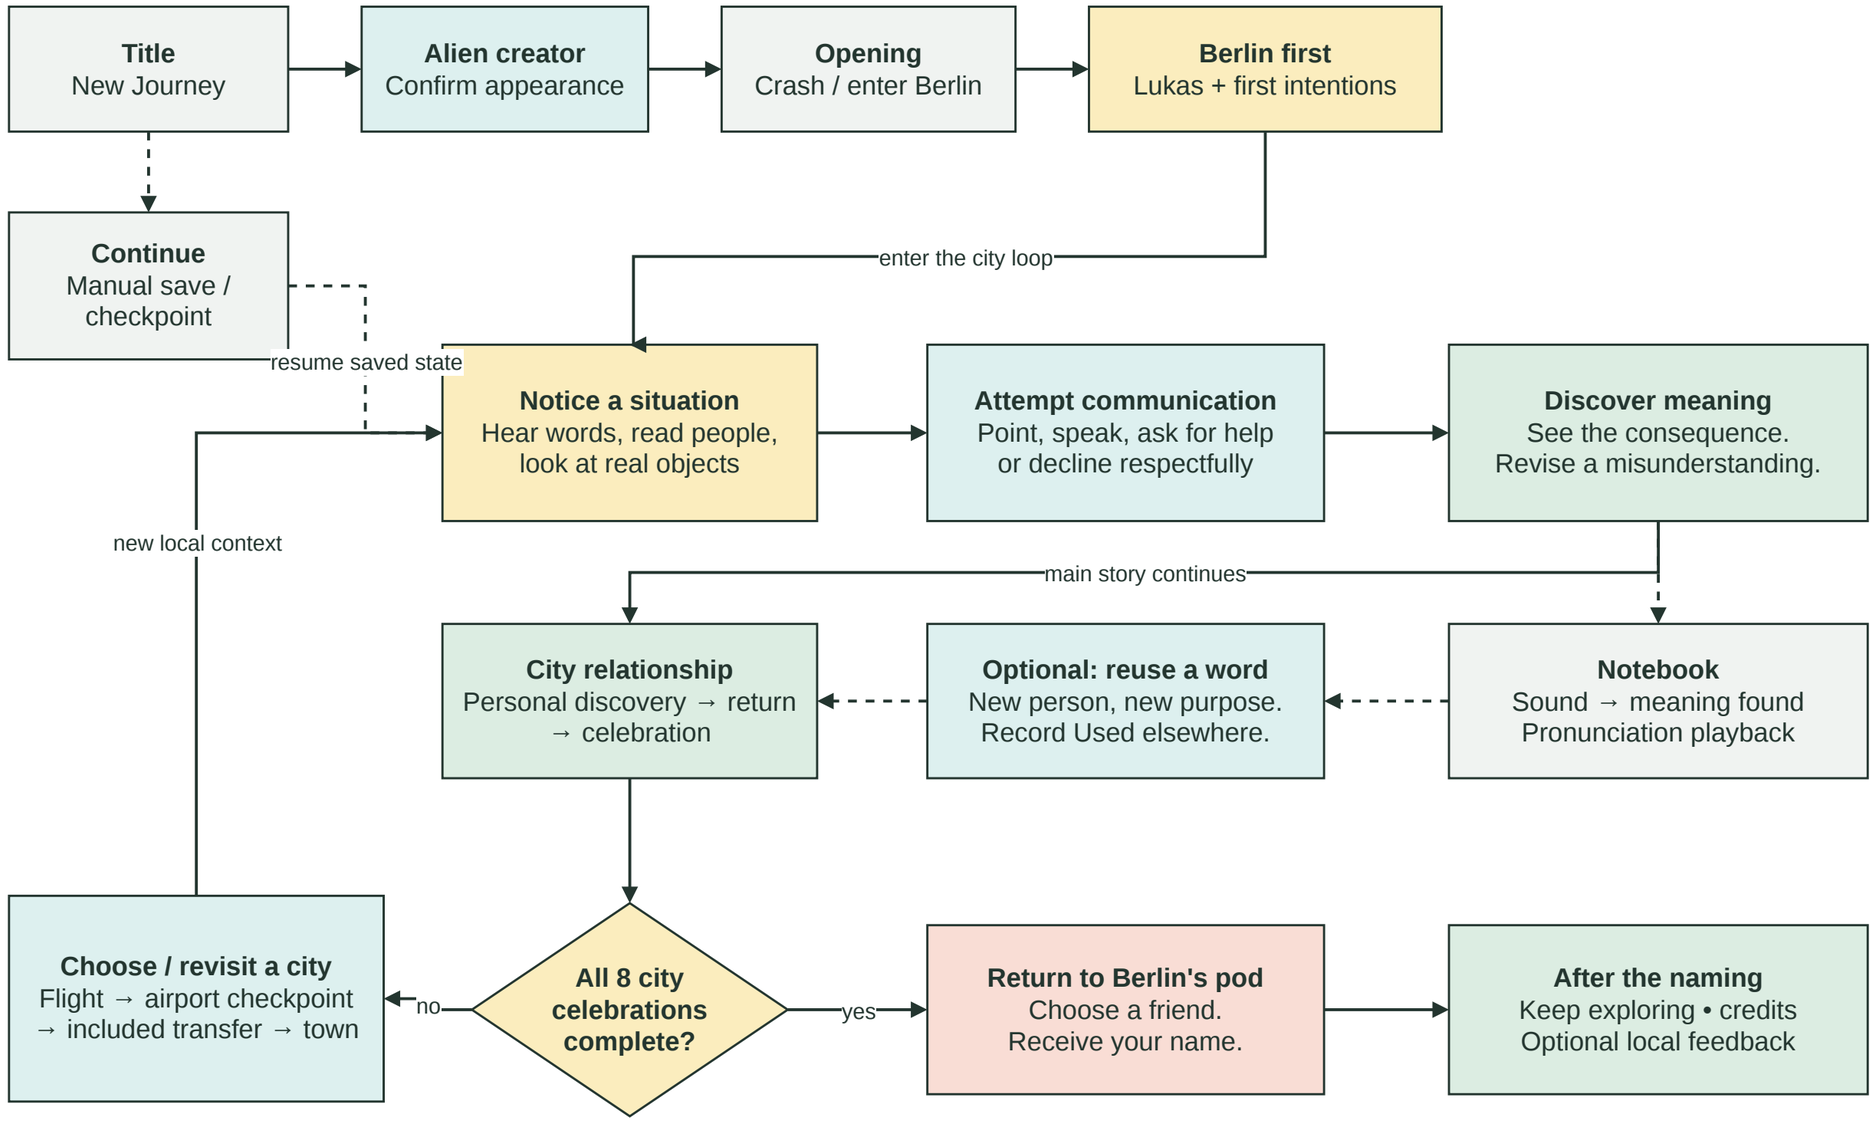

REPEAT 03–05 ACROSS THE CORE CITIES — Berlin first; Istanbul, London, Paris, Moscow, Mumbai, Tokyo and Mexico City in any order.

Feelings and watchpoints are design hypotheses, not observed tester results. Optional word reuse is not an ending requirement.

FOREIGN TO ALL

03 / Learning, travel and the path to belonging

Solid arrows = core route • Dashed arrows = optional / return paths • Diamond = decision

Time supports the journey
24-hour local clock; 40 active minutes per day.
Reading, menus and films pause time.
Beds: morning 08:00 / evening 18:00.
Travel advances time; no missed appointments.

Support without a chore tax
Essential money and travel have safety nets.
Map and current intention help orientation.
Mistakes do not end the game.
No fluency exam or full-activity checklist.

Eight core cities only
Berlin, Istanbul, London, Paris, Moscow, Mumbai, Tokyo, Mexico City.

After Berlin: no fixed route.

Current implemented beta flow. Optional use encounters enrich learning but do not block story progress. No measured completion-time claim.